Reporting

Every student, staff member and parent of [School Name] has an ethical and moral obligation to report when they have reason to believe bullying has or is occurring. Additionally, staff has a legal obligation to report, and [School Name] has directed all staff to notify the principal or his/her immediate supervisor as soon as possible.

Students are taught to notify the nearest adult when they have knowledge bullying has or is occurring. Students will be provided a Bullying Report Form and instructed to detail their observations and knowledge of the incident(s).

Students are also provided a way to reporting anonymously. They may report by submitting an unsigned "Bullying Report Form" or by using an anonymous online reporting process as part of the school's website.

All individuals working in the capacity of substitute staff will complete training in bullying recognition and response practices. Individuals volunteering on a regular basis at [School Name] may choose between attending a scheduled school training activity on the recognition and response to bullying, or they may participate in an approved online training event.

[School Name] will maintain records of all investigative notes, oral and written interviews, reports, and evidence to the degree practical or photographs of such for a period of _____. As appropriate and allowed under state law, records and investigation information will be shared with authorized agencies and individuals.

Prevention Strategies

[School Name] employs both general and specific strategies meant to minimize the occurrence of bullying. The prevention of bullying is a collaborative effort between the school, students and staff.

1. A comprehensive bullying prevention curriculum is included and integrated within classroom instructions and the teachings of the Catholic faith. All students will treat each other with respect and dignity.

Students, through direct instruction, role playing, and other activities will learn how to respond appropriately when a classmate is being teased, picked on, abused, tormented or harassed. Avenues for reporting bullying will be made available, and students will be taught it is their duty and responsibility to alert an adult when bullying is observed.

Students are guided in the appropriate use of social media including the philosophy that all dialogue with others on the internet should be consistent with their behavior in face-to-face interactions.

2. The school uses written supervision plans which can identify areas where bullying has been observed or is more likely to occur. Plans should direct staff to pay attention to those identified areas.
3. A parent education program is offered each school year for the purposes of helping parents understand how to recognize the warning signs and assist their child when it happens, including how they may work collaboratively with the school on anti-bullying efforts.
4. The school utilizes a Bullying Prevention Committee consisting of a broad base representation of the school community, to assist in the development of strategies for the prevention of bullying behaviors. The committee has developed a comprehensive Bullying Prevention Strategy Portfolio outlining the school's efforts. The portfolio is published and is available on the school's website with an overview provided in the Parent Student Handbook.
